D. A. R. MEETING.

The members of the Rebecca Pickens Chapter after missing two of their regular meetings on account of the quarantine, enjoyed a meeting with Mrs. G. D. Barlow on Tuesday afternoon, which was well attended.

The chapter will have the State Regent Mrs. E. W. Duval, of Cheraw in April.

The French Orphan is being adopted again this year and the chapter is doing good work in other lines.

After the adjournment of the business meeting the Regent turned the meeting over to the Chairman, Mrs. C. R. Taber. The first number on the program was a paper, "Marion in the Pee Dee," by Mrs. Taber.

Second, music on the Edison by Mrs. Barlow. Third, a reading from D. A. R. Magazine by Mrs. J. D. Hargrove. After the program Mrs. J. B. Gibson, Mrs. Barlow and Miss Lacy Jackson served delicious block cream and nabiscos.

Chautauqua at High School.

There will be a series of five entertainments given by the Stafford Chautauqua at the High School Auditorium on March 23, 26, and 27.

These entertainments are calculated to inspire by means of the music, to entertain by the showing of the comedy and to instruct by travelogues which will show such subjects as France the Glorious, Belgium the Brave, and Paris the Magnificent.

The Chautauqua is directed and presented by Mr. R. Stafford Dawson, of New York, who is a writer and lecturer as well as chautauqua director.

Mr. Dawson is coming under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association and its part of the proceeds will be used towards making some much needed improvements in the auditorium.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB WILL ENTERTAIN.

Probably no musical event of the season heard in Dillon will be more universally enjoyed by all, both young and old, as the concert to be held at the High School on Friday night, April 2nd. Glee Clubs are not a distinct novelty these days, but Girls Glee Clubs are. When the name of Coker College is back of it, then it becomes even more so, for this college has always stood for the best things in music.

Up until the present year, the Glee Club has been a local affair at the college, devoting its attention to furnishing music for local events. This year though it was decided to change the policy and devote the time entirely to the preparation of a program that would in every way stand out as distinctive from the ordinary glee club program. With this aim in view, the director called for candidates at the opening of the college in September. The natural thing happened, for he was swamped with applications, more than a hundred girls anxious to make a place on the club. It was evident that it was not going to be a question of material, but a slow process of selection. A glee club must of course be limited if it intends to do artistic work, so the slow process began.

Each candidate was made to sing before a committee of three, composed of members of the musical faculty. Attention being paid to quality of voice, pitch, musicianship and general personal appearance. Some failed in one particular and some in another. When notes were compared (each member of the committee having made separate reports) why thirty eight were selected. With this number rehearsals were begun and held weekly until after the holidays. The second test then came, each member having to sing three pages from one of the numbers studied. This process eliminated eight more. Last but not least, the mid year examinations were held and all those that had failed to make a high average in their scholastic work were dropped. This last process left the Glee Club had been selected and work in real earnest began. Five rehearsals were held each week, until a week ago, now they are holding a rehearsal every day and sometimes twice a day. Everything is being done to make the program an artistic success from beginning to end. Supported by three soloists, members of the musical faculty of the college, the Glee Club will leave Monday, March 29th, and give the same program at each place for a series of eleven consecutive performances.

Dillon is indeed fortunate in being included in the tour and is awaiting their coming with great eagerness. The concert will be held under the auspices of the Civic League.
